»Naučiti se branja in pisanja, prirejenega prav za slepe, je ena izmed najvažnejših točk v izobrazbi slepega.« To je navedek Minke Skabernè (1882–1965), pobudnice in ustanoviteljice prve slovenske knjižnice za slepe, ki ponazarja njeno vseživljenjsko prostovoljno delo. Monografija s postavljanjem njenega življenja in dela v zgodovinski kontekst ustrezno ovrednoti njen prispevek k skrbi za slepe in njeno vlogo v razvoju izobraževanja slepih. Pregledne študije o njenem šolanju in službovanju (Tatjana Hojan), vlogi v razvoju skrbi za slepe na Slovenskem (Aleksandra Serše) in delu za knjižnico slepih (Petra Testen) uokvirjata pregled ženskega gibanja in dobrodelnosti na prelomu stoletja (Irena Selišnik) in oris rodbine Skaberne (Tone Smolej). V knjigi so ponatisnjena tudi temeljna besedila Minke Skabernè, s katerimi je tvorno vplivala na ustanovitev Zavoda za slepe v Ljubljani in orala ledino v razvoju skrbstva za slepe na Slovenskem. Zbrano slikovno gradivo Minko Skabernè postavi v krog družine, sodelavcev in prijateljev. Knjiga je izšla ob 100-letnici Knjižnice slepih in slabovidnih, ki v priznanje njenih prizadevanj za to ranljivo skupino nosi njeno ime. Knjiga komparativista Toneta Smoleja sodi v okvir raziskovanja slovensko-avstrijskih kulturnih stikov. Avtor v svoji monografiji obravnava 50 slovenskih pisateljev ter slovensko pesnico, ki so v drugi polovici 19. in vse do sredine 20. let 20. stoletja študirali na filozofski, pravni ali medicinski fakulteti dunajske univerze. V prvem delu s pomočjo številnih, doslej neznanih dokumentov iz Arhiva dunajske univerze osvetljuje dunajska študijska leta slovenskih pisateljev in pesnice. Veliko pozornost namenja njihovim spominom na bivanje na Dunaju in zlasti na dunajske univerzitetne profesorje. Smoleja zanima tudi, v kolikšni meri je študij vplival na njihovo poznejšo literarno ustvarjanje. V drugem delu knjige je objavljen popis vseh predavanj, ki so jih pisatelji in pesnica v času študija vpisovali, ter ocene nekaterih njihovih doktorskih disertacij. Zgodovinar Peter Vodopivec, ki je h knjigi napisal uvod, v njem poudarja, da je Smolejevo delo z odgovori na vprašanja, kako so mladi slovenski izobraženci, pesniki in pisatelji pred prvo svetovno vojno, med vojno in neposredno po njej doživljali Dunaj ter univerzitetne učitelje in študij, ki so si ga izbrali, kaj jih je navdušilo, kaj razočaralo in kako so svoje dunajske in študijske izkušnje ter vtise ubesedili v svojih literarnih delih, pomemben prispevek ne le k zgodovini slovenskega izobraženstva, temveč tudi k zgodovini dunajske univerze in dunajskih visokih šol.

The study by literary historian Tone Smolej – "To Attempt and Become Something Greater": Slovenian Writers as Vienna Students (1850—1926)' – examines the cultural contacts between Slovenians and Austrians. It discusses 51 Slovenian writers, including one woman poet, who studied at the Faculties of Arts, Law or Medicine at Vienna University between the later 19th century and the mid-1920s. The first part traces their years of studies in Vienna, drawing on numerous and previously unknown documents from the Vienna University Archives. In addition to detailing their memories of their Vienna professors, Smolej likewise examines the extent to which each writer's studies influenced his or her later literary productivity. The second part lists all the courses which the writers attended during their studies, as well as reviews of their doctoral theses. The monograph is prefaced with an introduction by Professor Peter Vodopivec, PhD, an eminent Slovenian historian.

The story of Kar-Kraft began, as did many others in the automotive industry, with an aim to grind. In 1963, Ford was seriously interested in purchasing Ferrari. Ferrari was a legendary brand with considerable success in racing, and Ford saw the acquisition as a great way to be instantly successful in the racing arena. When Enzo Ferrari realized that Ford would not give him complete control of the racing program, he backed out of the deal late in the process. Ford had spent millions in vetting and audits, which then set in motion a vengeful response against Ferrari. The result was the unthinkable: Ford beat Ferrari a Le Mans. Ford wanted to become competitive quickly, but it did not have the race history or resources in house. To remedy the situation, Ford searched the U.K. for an independent company to help accelerate its race car development. It first settled on Lola Cars and then set up Ford Advanced Vehicles. Later, Ford brought its LeMans effort to the U.S. and the Kar-Kraft relationship was established. Although Kar-Kraft was technically an independent company, it really only had one customer: Ford Special Vehicles. Kar-Kraft's story doesn't begin and end with the GT 40 that took the win away from Ferrari at Le Mans. Ford expanded upon the program and organized an all-out assault on racing in general. Cars were prepared for Trans-Am, NASCAR, NHRA, and Can-Am competition. Street versions of the Boss 429 were assembled under its roof. And fabled prototypes including the Le Mans Mustang, Boss 302 Maverick, and Mach 2C were all assembled in Ford's contracted racing shop. And then, out of the blue, its doors closed for good on a cold day in 1970. History tells us that Ford won Le Mans, the Daytona 500, and the Trans-Am championship. But it doesn't tell us how this was accomplished. Author Charlie Henry (a former Kar-Kraft employee) has enlisted the help of many of his former co-workers to bring you the very first book ever published on Ford's all-encompassing special projects facility, Kar-Kraft.

The best teachers are leaders, and the best leaders are teachers. Teaching by Heart summarizes the author's key insights gained from more than forty years of teaching and managing. It illustrates how teachers can both lift people up and let them down. It proposes that the best teachers are also leaders, and the best leaders are also teachers. In examining how to lead and teach, renowned Harvard Business School professor Thomas J. DeLong takes the reader inside his own head and heart. He notes that, as teachers, we often focus more on our inadequacies and missteps than on our strengths and unique talents. He explains why this is so by dissecting and analyzing his own experiences--using himself as a case study. The book's goal is to help readers learn about the intricacies of teaching and managing, and to impart lessons about how teachers can create a unique teaching atmosphere. To do this, the author analyzes the process of creating a curriculum, preparing for an eighty-minute class, managing the fifteen minutes before class begins, and evaluating the nature of the teaching experience after the session concludes. Along the way, he connects specific classroom behaviors with leadership issues--in organizations, in teams, and in personal relationships. He also asks--and answers--some provocative questions, such as: What happens on multiple levels when I teach or lead--with me, students, or professionals? What am I thinking and feeling as I process what students are thinking and feeling? How are my internal conversations affecting how I teach and lead? How do I manage my biases, including having "favorite" students? To what extent can I use teaching methods in the arena of management? Throughout Teaching by Heart, DeLong discusses why empathy and authenticity matter. When teachers embrace this mindset, students have the opportunity to have a unique learning experience. Teachers and managers will learn how to create moments of transformation for students. Whether you're a university professor, a student, a business leader, or just someone fascinated by teaching, this book will instruct, entertain, and--hopefully--inspire.
